

Press Release – September 2007 – Residential Warranty Company, LLC Proudly presents The Keystone Award to Koch Homes

Residential Warranty Company, LLC
Proudly presents The Keystone Award to Koch Homes

A keystone is a building term that indicates a solid component upon which something can be built. That keystone is important to the stability of the entire structure. If the keystone fails, the building will surely crumble.

The keystone to any successful business is a solid foundation of loyal clients. For Residential Warranty Company, LLC (RWC), the nation's premier warranty provider, that means a core of high quality reputable builders who make a stellar reputation their hallmark. Choosing to deal only with builders that demonstrate technical competence, professional building ethics and financial stability, RWC strives to associate with the cream of the crop in the housing industry.

Rising to the top is Koch Homes and RWC is very proud to present them with the prestigious Keystone Award, a symbol of appreciation for a job well done! Headquartered in Annapolis, MD, Koch Homes has earned the Keystone Award due to a number of factors such as overall customer satisfaction, number of homes enrolled in the program, longevity as a member and screening stability.

Since becoming a member in the RWC warranty program, Koch Homes has enrolled over 499 homes in our warranty program and has now become one of the select few to have the Keystone Award bestowed upon them.

Koch Homes has been a major force in the housing industry. For the last two decades, RWC has dealt with literally thousands of home builders and has issued warranties on over two million homes across the country.